The Analytics of Leadership ©

The analysis of data or information can reveal patterns and associations; thus, eliminating the need for guessing and only relying on our intuition. In fact, through the power of analytics, we can derive answers to questions or problematic situations we face on a daily basis regarding Leadership when we study the characteristics and qualities of those we know to be great leaders. Relative to this workshop, the word “Analytics” will involve the study of the effects of certain decision making and actions of leaders, while evaluating various reactions created in different leadership scenarios.

Also, during this workshop, the word, “Force” will be used through a simple acronym to demonstrate how a leader’s interaction with his or her organization, combined with their organization’s reaction to the engagement, can be the driving force behind the success or failure of their organization’s mission.

F – Focus (Vision)

O – Open Door/Open-minded

R – Relationships

C – Communication

E – Emotional Intelligence

Workshop Outcome:

Over the course of this workshop, Leaders will become more aware of their strengths and weaknesses relative to:

- Their ability to adapt to, as well as, implement change during favorable and unfavorable conditions through the self-evaluation of their openness to the suggestions of their team members and peers.
- Their ability to create a positive SHIFT in the workplace through Forces of Engagement created by their Communication and or Connecting with others.
- Their ability to create the proper Synergy in their organization relative to their Emotional Intelligence Skills.
